2014 ANNUAL REPORT TO DONORS

Invest In Lane. Invest In Success.

"50 years is just the beginning. Together, we still have so much work to do, so many connections to make, so many success stories to share."

Lane Community College President Mary Spilde

If you lived in Lane County on October 20, 1964, you opened the Register-Guard to find “a community college exists today in Eugene.” Before we even had a name, we had a mission to transform lives through learning and to transform our community through education.

50 years later, that mission still drives us. Lane Community College now sits at the center of a great community network, connecting employers to a trained workforce, connecting students to mentors, connecting donors to the next generation of leaders, and complementing the work of our four-year universities. You will see examples of this network over the next few pages, from distinguished alumni to current students to business leaders. You may also see your name in these pages as someone who supports Lane through our Foundation, because you are an integral part of this network as well.

As we look to the next 50 years, our network of success continues to grow, as does our physical campus, and I invite you to witness this firsthand. Please join us for a hard hat tour of our new Center for Learning and Student Success, the largest capital project on campus since the college was initially constructed. Have lunch with a scholarship recipient, or meet with a faculty member. Learn about the lives you are affecting, and how those lives influence the success of our entire community.

Thank you for being a part of Lane’s history, whether you voted in the 1964 election, or you joined our network in later years. 50 years is just the beginning. Together, we still have so much work to do, so many connections to make, so many success stories to share. Lane’s future is bright.

Mary Spilde
Lane Community College President

Lane Community College Foundation Director Wendy Jett

Lane Community College has many success stories. What has always interested me is not only the success – but the stories themselves. Our student stories are remarkable and varied. They are recent high school graduates, displaced workers, single parents, and veterans. Some have the support of their families; others have to support their families. Some drive from Florence, Triangle Lake, or McKenzie Bridge, and some have lived in Eugene or Springfield their entire lives. Their stories are woven into their scholarship applications, into the lives they affect here on campus, and into the community workforce.

It is fitting that with such a varied student body, we have an equally varied group of donors and supporters – each with your own distinct backgrounds, motivations, and stories of success. You may be an employer who wants to build a workforce, a grandparent who wants more opportunities for the next generation, a young professional who got your start at Lane, a parent who wants to honor the memory of your child, or a faculty member who sees the potential in your students. You live in Eugene, Florence, Portland, Hawaii, San Francisco, and beyond. You give to support student scholarships, to build a program that will produce a pipeline of workers, or to capital projects that will change student outcomes. You may give small amounts annually, a large transformative gift, or you may plan to give after your lifetime. Your stories are woven into those of our students – and you are inextricably linked to the success of our community.

Thank you for sharing your stories with us. Thank you for supporting the stories of others through your investment in Lane. Together, we will shape the future of this community.

Wendy Jett
Foundation Director

His hands are clasped in front of him, and he is wearing a watch on his left wrist and rings on his fingers. The background is a dark, textured blue.

A Legacy of Generosity

ENDOWMENT DONOR PAUL LOEPP

Paul Loepp fell in love with Oregon after being drafted to serve in World War II. He was stationed for training at Camp Adair, located near Corvallis. After the war, he attended the University of Iowa on the GI Bill. Upon graduation, with only $70 in his pocket, he returned to Oregon and began working in a Portland bowling alley, setting pins and planning for the next step.

While in Portland, Paul met Peggy, who would become his wife. In 1954 they were married and moved to Eugene where they raised two sons. The early years were not easy for the young family; money was tight as Paul was starting a business with James Gilkey, a good friend and chemist. With $3,000 in seed money, they started Laurence David, making and selling fillers, glue, and laminates for the wood products industry.

Business was good, the company grew, and after two decades they sold the company. Now comfortably retired, Paul and Peggy began thinking of ways they could give back. Peggy was passionate about education, and the driving force behind the establishment of the Loepp Endowed Scholarship at Lane Community College Foundation. Paul says, "It's not always easy for students to go to four-year universities right out of high school, the Foundation does a great job of lessening that financial burden." The endowment funds two diversity scholarships each year for students enrolled at Lane in any major.

In 2007, after 53 years of marriage, Peggy passed away. Paul continues to make annual contributions to grow the endowment and increase the amount of the awards given each year as the cost of education continues rising. "I wouldn't have been able to finish college without the GI bill, I could never have afforded it, and so I know where these students are coming from."

Paul takes pride in offering a scholarship and has a sincere wish to help students get ahead and achieve their goals. His motivation for the scholarship is to increase access to education. Since the endowment was established, 34 students have received a Loepp Scholarship helping them achieve success. "Lane is a great institution," Paul says, "I am very happy with the decision Peggy and I made to start donating to the Foundation, I'm glad to support students."

Achieving Success

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT, STEVEN SAYAVONGSA

Originally from Laos, Steven and his family immigrated to the United States in 1981. They had been forced to flee from civil war in their country and had lived in a refugee camp in Thailand before Steven's application for asylum was granted and he was placed with sponsors in Eugene, Oregon, where he began the task of adjusting to life in a new country. He spoke no English, but was determined to succeed. His sponsor family suggested he enroll in English as a Second Language courses at Lane Community College's downtown campus. He recollects, "The first teacher I had at Lane was really nice. She took us to the supermarket and taught us how to use money and buy food." His success in these courses encouraged him to continue his education.

After only a year in the United States, Steven began working at Spectra Physics. He continued taking courses at Lane, improving his English and learning new skills. In 1989 he received his degree in Electronic Technology. He worked for 28 years at Spectra Physics which transitioned into PSC Scanning and Datalogic. In 2010 his position was eliminated due to outsourcing.

Steven returned to Lane to research new career options, he says, "I recognized how adaptable I really am." He had a passion for working with his hands and his interest was sparked by the Advanced Technology offerings. He enrolled in the Automotive Technician Program and says, "The teachers at Lane really focused on me, they wanted me to learn. This meant a lot to me, to be supported as I learned more, and to be able to connect with others in an attempt to find common ground." Receiving a Foundation scholarship gave Steven confidence and financial support. He says, "It held me to a higher standard, making me want to achieve more."

Steven is a regular volunteer at FOOD for Lane County and at his church. In the future he hopes to return to Laos for a visit; it would be his first trip back. Steven recently completed the Auto Tech Program and is excited to begin a successful new hands-on career. He knows that with his excellent training and the support he received from Lane, his future is guaranteed to be bright.

"The teachers at Lane really focused on me, they wanted me to learn. This meant a lot to me, to be supported as I learned more, and to be able to connect with others in an attempt to find common ground."

"I'm grateful for the scholarship assistance and educational experiences Lane provided to help me realize my career goals and live out my passion to help others."

Making A Difference

ALUMNI SUCCESS, TANYA GUIDRY

Labor & Delivery and pediatric nurse, Tanya Guidry, knows the importance of hard work and access to educational opportunities. Tanya was born in New York, but grew up in the U.S. Virgin Islands. When Hurricane Marilyn hit in 1995, her family home was destroyed, causing severe financial strain and uncertainty. Increased crime rates in the wake of the disaster, put Tanya's family at risk. After being mugged at gunpoint, Tanya's grandmother decided that they would move to Texas to be near extended family. Though the move was difficult and it meant starting over, they hoped to find more opportunity and financial security. "My grandmother raised me, working a restaurant job that paid $2.13 an hour. We hardly had money for food," Tanya recalls. "Watching her struggle to provide for me, I promised myself that I would do something with my life. From the moment I graduated high school, I remained focused. My experiences taught me to be motivated and to work hard."

She knew her family would not be able to provide assistance for college, so she applied for scholarships and was awarded over $30,000 in scholarships, grants, and aid towards her education. Tanya cried when she heard of her acceptance into Lane's Nursing Program. She says, "It was an amazing feeling to know that my hard work and dedication really paid off. I was the first person in my family to complete college. My grandmother always told me to dream big and never give up. She didn't want me to remain in poverty. My younger relatives coming up see my success and know they too can do anything. My niece, now 10, always tells me how she wants to be like me. I'm proud to be a role model for my family."

Tanya's resiliency and dedication have certainly paid off. Since completing Lane's Nursing Program, she earned a bachelor's degree in nursing from Oregon Health Sciences University, graduating summa cum laude in 2013. She is employed by McKenzie-Willamette Hospital, a job she loves. Her success is shared and she credits her hardworking grandmother as her inspiration. Tanya says, "I'm grateful for the scholarship assistance and educational experiences Lane provided to help me realize my career goals and live out my passion to help others."

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT, MICHAEL SAMANO

Veteran, faculty member, and alumnus – Dr. Michael Sámano’s story exemplifies how student success starts at Lane Community College. After graduation from Willamette High School, he served in the U.S. Navy, and then returned home, enrolled at Lane, and earned an Associate of Arts Oregon Transfer degree. He transferred to the University of Oregon where he completed a bachelor’s degree in sociology. His educational journey continued with masters degrees from both Humboldt State and the University of California-Davis, and finally a doctorate in educational leadership from Oregon State University.

Today Dr. Sámano serves as an instructor and coordinator of Ethnic Studies at Lane. His favorite course to teach is Ethnic Studies 101. He says, “So many students coming into the introductory course have personal opinions and experiences related to prejudice, discrimination, and inequality. These students are curious about history and contemporary issues and I am able to provide them with the foundations needed for a deeper understanding of the issues we see around us every day.”

His experiences as a veteran give Dr. Sámano common ground with many of his students at Lane. “Being a veteran transitioning back into the civilian world can be difficult, and I want to make it easier for students who are going through that process. There is always something that can help them connect, even if they are from different eras and branches of service” he says. He remembers his own transition from the military to college well, and appreciates the additional supports he received to ensure his success as a student at Lane.

He began working at Lane as an instructor in 1999, building a solid educational foundation for the next generation of Lane graduates. As both a faculty member and an alumnus, he has a unique perspective on the importance of the student/instructor relationship. Smaller class sizes, and the opportunity for one-on-one connections with faculty members keep students engaged and encourages their success.

Dr. Sámano says, “Lane Community College benefits the community in countless ways, when you take into consideration everything that Lane gives back to this community, and the many people touched by the college.”

"Lane Community College benefits the community in countless ways."

"Lane Community College is an amazing asset to the community, Eugene, and the state of Oregon as a whole."

Foundations of Community

CORPORATE DONOR, NINKASI BREWING COMPANY

“Lane Community College is an amazing asset to the community, Eugene, and the state of Oregon as a whole,” says Jamie Floyd, Co-Founder and Founding Brewer of Ninkasi Brewing Company.

In 2005, Jamie and his business partner, Nikos Ridge, had the idea to start a new craft brewery and in June of 2006, Ninkasi was born. From the beginning, their business ethos centered on producing a quality product, while also improving the quality of life in the community. Today, Ninkasi employs about 100 Lane County residents providing family wage jobs and benefits. Jamie says, “It’s important to us that we create jobs that our team enjoys and want to keep long-term.” Ninkasi has invested over $25 million in their 80,000 square foot production site which also houses administrative offices and rentable community space in the up-and-coming Whiteaker District. They feel honored to hold the distinction of being the fastest growing craft brewery in its first five years of production. The company’s success is directly linked with hard work, great brews, and their dedication to involvement within the community and surrounding areas.

Jamie’s love of beer began when he was living in Cupertino, California. After moving to Eugene to study Sociology with a concentration on Community Studies at the University of Oregon, he began brewing. With a focus on community involvement and beer, Ninkasi created a charitable giving program, “Beer Is Love.” The Beer Is Love program has contributed to more than 600 non-profit and community organizations in Lane County and throughout the state. This past year, Beer is Love supported Lane’s Al Fresco and Harvest Dinner events and for Lane’s 50th Anniversary Ninkasi bottled the commemorative Titan Power Pale Ale. “This was done to educate people about LCC,” says Floyd, “to celebrate this great community resource.” Ninkasi also donated over $20,000 to local non-profits by donating a percentage of pints sales at its tasting room to local organizations throughout the year.

Ninkasi supports Lane Community College because of the number of lives that are touched by a gift to the Foundation. “Education is important and Lane makes a difference in the community,” says Jamie. At Ninkasi, you find many connections to Lane, from employees who were students, to Ninkasi’s use of the college’s facilities, and in the generous support of the Culinary Arts Program and college.

A Lifetime of Giving

INDIVIDUAL DONOR, DR. ALBERT BRAUER

Dr. Albert Brauer has spent his entire life working to make the lives of the people around him better. Born and raised in Nebraska, Dr. Brauer heard the “call of the west” as a young man and attended the University of Oregon, receiving his medical degree in 1951. He and his wife Alice decided to make their home in Florence in 1958.

Dr. and Mrs. Brauer had six children; the youngest three were born in Florence. He practiced medicine for over 30 years while actively serving his community as a Rotarian, and a member of many local boards, including Oregon Pacific Bank, Peace Harbor Hospital and Siuslaw School District. In 1964 he became a member of Lane Community College’s Charter Board of Directors. The work of building a college for the community was exciting to Dr. Brauer. In the early years of his tenure, the board focused on hiring the college’s first President, Dale Parnell, finding a location, building the campus, and accreditation. He says, “It took great leadership to bring the ideas and visions forward.”

In 1972, during a medical mission trip to Kenya, Dr. Brauer was in a tragic car accident that claimed the life of his wife, Alice. He spent 2 weeks in a hospital there staffed by The Sisters of Mercy. It was there that he met Catherine, a nurse and an Irish Catholic sister. They remained in touch when he returned to Florence. He says, “Out of a terrible tragedy came a blessing.” They married in 1973, and returned many times to Kenya.

After the construction of Lane’s main campus, Dr. Brauer began the discussion about building a campus in Florence. The students in West Lane County had the longest drive to get to classes; making education less accessible to them. With donations of land and grants towards initial construction, the LCC Florence Campus opened its doors in 1976. Dr. Brauer is proud of this accomplishment and says “It gave Florence something to call their own and it has been very healthy for the community.”

Dr. Brauer has remained committed to LCC Florence, generously supporting scholarships and programs throughout the years. He continues to be a champion for Lane Community College.

"It took great leadership to bring the ideas and visions forward."

CLASS UPDATE

The CLASS (Center for Learning and Student Success) project is underway and looking amazing. The remodeled Titan Store has opened and become a hub of activity. Students, staff, and visitors are enjoying the bright, open, and airy space. Construction on the first, second, and third floors continues and is expected to be finished before Fall 2015. Once completed, the culinary program will enjoy state-of-the-art kitchen facilities and an expanded Renaissance Room. Students will benefit from tutoring services, renewed library facilities, study rooms, and a centralized technology center.
