

Rob Johnstone
Monday, February 5, 2018
8:30 am - 4:30 pm

Rob Johnstone is a national expert and researcher on guided pathways. The keynote address and sessions below offer a rare opportunity for personal conversations to address questions and concerns about guided pathways and the impact on a college’s system and student success.

Learn about the challenges and achievements, myths and research outcomes, and the roles of all members of the college in increasing student success.

Johnstone recommends participants attend the keynote address, if they plan to participate in a breakout session.

Classified and Faculty sessions repeat in morning and afternoon.
